

Here's your invitation to this month's FREE VSM Information Session.

Video Self Modelling (VSM) Online Information Session
Wednesday 14th of April - 8 pm

Video Self Modelling (VSM) involves creating a short video using simple videoing and editing techniques. The video shows your child performing a skill that is just out of reach for them, but potentially reachable. Through viewing this video, the skill is rapidly learnt.

During this Free 1-hour information session you will hear stories of hope and possibility and learn about VSM in a simple to understand manner as well as, the benefits for you and your child.

I will share my story and why it transformed my Special Ed teaching – how it provided me with new hope to really make a change when supporting the children I worked with felt overwhelming and like I had run out of ideas.

You will hear true success stories and experience samples of VSM's little miracles.

And I will discuss and demonstrate how the VSM@Home course is the pathway for parents to take the lead and to see your child flourish from your love and belief you have in them.

If you are a parent, support worker, teacher or teacher's aide, speech therapist or occupational therapist, or working with or loving a tricky kid and are curious, this information session is perfect for you.

VSM is designed for any child or adult with autism, disability, ADHD, special needs, intellectual disability, physical disability.

This is a free event, but registrations are essential. If you cannot make it, you will still receive access to the session recording.
